

Gregory S. D'Amico
NAPL Consultant
Tel: (908) 737-3531
Email: gdamico@napl.org

Gregory S. D'Amico, Ph.D. is a Professor and Coordinator of the undergraduate program in Graphic Communications at Kean University in Union, New Jersey and an Adjunct Professor at New York University's Center for Graphic Communications in New York City. A recognized authority in graphic communications management issues, Dr. D'Amico serves as lead professor of the Production Management course at NAPL's Management Institute and specializes in in-house management training, marketing and strategic planning through NAPL's consulting services.

Dr. D'Amico is also the author of Customer-Centered Production, and numerous trade journal articles. He serves as a Board Member of NAPL and is a member of the graphic communications industry's prestigious Soderstrom Society. Dr. D'Amico received his M.A. and Ph.D. degrees from New York University.